Did You Get the Devil's Invitation?

Jeff Johnson

"I am out to have you join the party! I'm not really that bad guy they say I am. Life is too short let's have some fun. Come with me. I know your logical mind can see that most have a tragic end but that will not be you. There are some who live like there is no tomorrow and enjoy the greatest time with money, food and mind altering drugs. You can taste the good life with even what money you have.

You can go to church every once in a while. You don't really want to waste a lot of your time there. Those folks are nice and all but don't really know how to have fun. That preacher is nice but he's too nose. It's more important to be with your family anyway, unless they annoy you.

During the holiday season you have to gain weight because you cannot refuse all that great food. So give yourself a break. If you don't feel good you can declare anytime your personal holiday. Don't worry about getting up to get some exercise, you can always do that later. Who wants to have muscle aches today anyway. Today is just one day.

Those cigars and cigarettes are really harmless and smell good. All those "Smoke Free" freaks don't even want salt on the tables at restaurants. Look how cool it is to carry a lighter around, it has so many other uses. That pack in your pocket let's everybody know there is more to you than they see. It highlights your sense of mystery. You are after all an adult. If you don't like the smell on your clothes just light up another and it all goes away. Don't worry you can quit anytime. If you need help later there are all kinds of patches and gum to help you. Enjoy them while you are young. Those old folks don't seem to enjoy them so much. They just lost their youth and are generally angry. One more could not possibly hurt. Today is just one day.

Cowboy, you want to look tough and smoking not only stinks but it's bad for your lungs. Pull that can from the ring in your jeans, tap it on your hand and scoop out a dip. If you like the old fashion way the "real men" did it, take three fingers full from the pouch and pack it in your cheek. Either way, do you remember the first time you did it? How funny was that? You almost threw up or maybe you did. You might talk about it and laugh or try to hide it as if you were tougher than that, but you and I know the truth. Still a giggle even if its on the inside. Nothing like brushing your teeth and then poking that tobacco in your mouth first thing in the morning. Some mask the bitterness with wintergreen, sugar, peach or cherry grounds. You may have not known this but that 'little buzz' you get is from a sudden rise in your blood pressure. I know it feels relaxing but that's because your body is reacting to the nicotine. How weird is that? If you feel better, it must right. Right? Doesn't matter today. You can quit anytime. Today is just one day.

The real tough guys and girls have a drink to relax. Yep, it's true that alcohol has a negative effect on your health. But, even the Bible only says not to get drunk. I'm not saying drink till you get drunk. Of course that means that a few times you will have to find out how much it takes to get you drunk. I'm with those TV commercials. Only drink responsibly and surely don't drive if you've had too much. Since you are an adult, you will know when you have crossed that line. I know that some of those old people say that you shouldn't drink at all and say that stuff is a drug. Look, it wouldn't be legal if it was that bad. Even the doctors say that some red wine everyday is good for the body. Now, don't laugh and point to those advertisements from the 40's and 50's that show doctors recommending cigarettes. They just didn't know about cancer in the old days. Only alcoholics get liver cancer from drinking. More people get breast cancer. Put on your pink ribbon and have a drink. Enjoy it while you are young. Today is just one day.

Never mind the country bumpkins, if you really want to be suave, metro and sophisticated, you can find the upscale drinks. Some taste like peppermint and chocolate. I bet you never knew candy could make you feel so loose. You can be the one everybody sees with that sculpted glass in your hand. Not that you need reminding like those other folks, but be responsible and don't get drunk. But if you do, have a driver and a friend who will help you when you throw it up. The sophisticate must be prepared. Even if you do cross the line once in a while it will just give you a funny story to share whether you remember it or not. If your head hurts, there are plenty of hang over remedies and it will pass after a day. Today is just one day.

If you are feeling rebellious, I have just the thing for you. Take a drive through the seedy part of town. You will soon spot somebody that can hook you up with a hit of something. I mean these folks are not exactly regulated so it may be what they tell you or not. It could be laced with something lethal but that will probably not happen to you. After all you are a better judge of people than those punks who get the stuff that hooks them for life or kills them. Its really not that serious. When you get the right stuff it's cool to 'Time Check Out'. No need to worry, it's only one time. They will always be there if you want another quick escape. It's no problem. Today is just one day.

There is my quick invitation. Please RSVP so I can be expecting you. You can relax in my hands and if anything goes wrong feel free to blame me and not yourself.

Your Pal, the Devil"
